About this booklet:

This booklet “Class Time Schedule” shows the time schedule, classrooms, and instructors of G-code classes* with class codes starting with 22*G* and classes offered in non-Japanese languages.

G-code classes listed in this booklet are those offered mainly for international students. For the information on G-code classes for general education and those for specialty education offered in each faculty, please refer to the syllabi on Niigata University Student Web System.

■ 1st Term "221G～" 2nd Term "222G～" Semester "220G～"

■ About room numbers

Please note that many subjects listed in this booklet are conducted via online. Room numbers are shown only for subjects which will be conducted face-to-face.

(e.g.) B251 Advanced Education and Research Building (sogo-kyoiku-kenkyu-to),
Building B, 2nd floor, Room B251

Most classes whose room number is four digits are offered in Advanced Education and Research Building. The first number of the three digits indicates the floor of the building: 1 means that the room is on the first floor, and 2 is for the second floor, etc. For the room information of classes offered in other buildings, please refer to the notes on each page.

◇Period 3

* U/G : Undergraduate & Graduate , U : Undergraduate , G : Graduate

Course Number	Course Title	Credit	Instructor	Room	Field	Language for Instruction	For Undergraduate or Graduate	Information
220G3236	Chinese Politics and Diplomacy	2	ZHANG Yun	TBA※1	International relations	English	U/G	1-2term Face-to-face and non-face-to-face combined. Students overseas are NOT eligible to apply.
This course aims to investigate Chinese diplomacy and international behaviors from various perspectives including international system, ideology, nationalism, perception leadership, public opinion. Empirically, China-Japan-US trilateral relations would be used as a core case study to deepen students' understanding on Chinese politics and diplomacy.

◇Period 4

220G3235	Regionalism in the Asia-Pacific Region	2	ZHANG Yun	TBA※1	International relations	English	U/G	1-2term Face-to-face and non-face-to-face combined. Students overseas are NOT eligible to apply.
The aim of this course is to analyze international relations of East Asia through the two main perspectives of regional cooperation and major power interactions. After the Cold War, East Asia which is regarded as one of the most diverse region and weak in regionalism has accelerated its regional integration process especially after the economic crisis of 1997-98. A number of regional initiatives such as ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF), Chiang Mai Initiative (CMI), ASEAN plus Three (APT), Free Trade Agreement (FTA), and East Asia Summit (EAS) symbolize the region's efforts for strengthening regional ties in the political security, economic, financial and cultural fields. On the other hand, East Asia embraces the world's three biggest economies (The combined GDP of the U.S., Japan and China accounts for near 50% of the global GDP.), the world's largest military power and the world's most populous nation. The Cold War legacies such as the Korean Peninsula issue and the Taiwan problem remind us that the perpetual peace in the region remains to be an open question. However, the current regional institutions are widely regarded too soft to deal with these hard problems. East Asia has been the engine of the global growth while its future remains uncertain. But its future will largely depend on the two major threads: multilateral regional integration and major power interactions (China-Japan-U.S. relations in particular) The course aims to analyze the dynamism of East Asia international relations by tracing the historical and undergoing development of the above mentioned two threads.
221G7085	Applied Microeconomics	2	NAITO Masakazu	All lessons will be held on-line.	Economics	English	U/G	1st grader or above
The main concern of this course is the construction of theoretical models. However, the goal of such models is always to learn something about the real world.

This course is to introduce and analyze the dynamic international relations in the Asia-Pacific. The Asia-Pacific has emerged as a region of global significance. It houses the world's three biggest economies, the world's largest military power and the world's most populous nation. The Cold War legacies such as the Korean Peninsula issue and the Taiwan problem remind us that the perpetual peace in the region remains to be an open question. At the same time, the interdependence of member countries in the region is increasingly deepening. The Asia-Pacific is such a fluid and dynamic region that it demands continual reappraisal and reconsideration.

220G3236	Chinese Politics and Diplomacy	2	ZHANG Yun	TBA※1	International relations	English	U/G	1-2term Face-to-face and non-face-to-face combined. Students overseas are NOT eligible to apply.
This course aims to investigate Chinese diplomacy and international behaviors from various perspectives including international system, ideology, nationalism, perception leadership, public opinion. Empirically, China-Japan-US trilateral relations would be used as a core case study to deepen students' understanding on Chinese politics and diplomacy.

◇ Period 4

220G3235	Regionalism in the Asia-Pacific Region	2	ZHANG Yun	TBA※1	International relations	English	U/G	1-2term Face-to-face and non-face-to-face combined. Students overseas are NOT eligible to apply.
The aim of this course is to analyze international relations of East Asia through the two main perspectives of regional cooperation and major power interactions. After the Cold War, East Asia which is regarded as one of the most diverse region and weak in regionalism has accelerated its regional integration process especially after the economic crisis of 1997-98. A number of regional initiatives such as ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF), Chiang Mai Initiative (CMI), ASEAN plus Three (APT), Free Trade Agreement (FTA), and East Asia Summit (EAS) symbolize the region's efforts for strengthening regional ties in the political security, economic, financial and cultural fields. On the other hand, East Asia embraces the world's three biggest economies (The combined GDP of the U.S., Japan and China accounts for near 50% of the global GDP.), the world's largest military power and the world's most populous nation. The Cold War legacies such as the Korean Peninsula Issue and the Taiwan problem remind us that the perpetual peace in the region remains to be an open question. However, the current regional institutions are widely regarded too soft to deal with these hard problems. East Asia has been the engine of the global growth while its future remains uncertain. But its future will largely depend on the two major threads: multilateral regional integration and major power interactions (China-Japan-U.S. relations in particular) The course aims to analyze the dynamism of East Asia international relations by tracing the historical and undergoing development of the above mentioned two threads.

		This course is to introduce and analyze the dynamic international relations in the Asia-Pacific. The Asia-Pacific has emerged as a region of global significance. It houses the world's three biggest economies, the world's largest military power and the world's most populous nation. The Cold War legacies such as the Korean Peninsula issue and the Taiwan problem remind us that the perpetual peace in the region remains to be an open question. At the same time, the interdependence of member countries in the region is increasingly deepening. The Asia-Pacific is such a fluid and dynamic region that it demands continual reappraisal and reconsideration.
