

“Uninovafapi Training Program in Clinical Dentistry for International Students”

Uninovafapi University conducts a clinical training program for international dental students under the supervision of Uninovafapi University professors and Dental Practitioners. The international students work together with the Brazilian students and they have the chance to treat patients in different fields of dentistry (periodontics, oral surgery, endodontics, prosthodontics, geriatric dentistry, patients with special needs, ect). They also have the chance to see patients in public clinics outside the university in a governmental dental health program called SUS (Unique Health System).

In 2019, the program was carried out from March 8th to 25th including three participants from Niigata University. They interacted with local patients and experienced a lot throughout the program.
